

Title: What Irish person would you like to see on a collector coin?

Okay. Straight off the top of my head, came in to my vision was Liam Neeson.

Oh, let me see. O'Donovan De Rossa. O'Donovan De Rossa was a member of the Irish Republican Brotherhood, the founder member of it.

I suppose I'd like to see our president, because he's not too bad. Or Mary Robinson, of course.

I'd like to see Tony O'Reilly. I think he did a lot for Ireland.

T.J. Reid he's a famous hurler, put him on it yeah.

Michael D. Higgins. I think he's a cutie. I just think he's adorable. And his little dog.

Daniel Wiffen, no Mona McSharry. Or Kellie Harrington. I just think they're great inspiration for young people being fit and active.

Oh Katie Taylor.

Michael D. and the dog.

Yeah, I'm trying to think, I don't know, Charlie Haughey.

On a collectors coin? Wow, probably Michael D.

First President of Ireland, Mary Robinson - the first female President of Ireland I should say - Mary Robinson.

Jesus every Irish person I'd say was watching the Olympics like was it? Something like 1.4 million people tuned in to watch Kellie Harrington, I think that's just like she was such an inspiration there.

So possibly her.

Yeah. I think because she had such a hard time throughout her life. I think the likes of Sinéad O'Connor and I think to actually properly pay homage to her.

Me.

Find out more: centralbank.ie/wordonthestreet