- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2)(c) the Bank may prescribe investments in which a credit union may invest its funds. In prescribing matters for the purposes of subsection (2) and having regard to the need to avoid undue risk to members' savings, the Bank may also prescribe other matters in relation to prescribed investments, including any of the following:
- (a) the classes of investments, including, where appropriate, any investment project of a public nature the credit union may invest in;
 - (b) the quality of investments and quality of counterparties that the credit union may invest in;

- (6) In so far as any funds of a credit union that are surplus to its operating requirements—
 - (a) are not immediately required for the purposes of the credit union,
 - (b) are not invested in accordance with subsection (2), or
 - (c) are not kept in cash in the custody of officers of the credit union,those funds shall be kept by the credit union on current account with a credit institution.
- (7) Where any funds of a credit union are on current account with, or on loan to, an institution which ceases to be a credit institution, the credit union shall take all practicable steps to call in and realise the loan within the period of 3 months from the time when the institution so ceased or, if that is not possible, as soon after the end of that period as possible.

Section 44 – Special fund for social, cultural etc. purposes

- (2) Subject to subsection (4), moneys may be paid into a special fund established by a credit union under this section only out of the annual operating surplus of the credit union; and no moneys may be so paid unless the directors are satisfied—
 - (a) that adequate provision has been made out of the surplus in question to cover all current and contingent liabilities and to maintain proper reserves; and
 - (b) that the payment of the moneys into the special fund will not affect the financial stability of the credit union.
- (3) Subject to subsection (5), the amount of moneys which may be paid as mentioned in subsection (2) out of the annual operating surplus of any year shall not exceed 0.5 per cent. of the value of the credit union's assets as shown in the accounts for the most recent financial year ending before the date of the payment.

- (5) If, by a resolution passed by not less than two-thirds of the members of the credit union present and voting at a general meeting called for the purpose, a credit union resolves to increase the percentage applicable to it under subsection (3) to a percentage to which the Bank has consented in writing, that subsection shall have effect accordingly.
- (6) Where a credit union has established a special fund under this section, the social, cultural or charitable purposes for which it is to be used may be varied by a further resolution passed as mentioned in subsection (1).

(7) If at any time—

(a) the board of directors make a recommendation in writing to the members of a credit union that it is appropriate to wind up a special fund established under this section, and to banking) ceases to apply to a person with whom an investment is made as a direct consequence of the United Kingdom withdrawing from the European Union.

3. Guidance

3.1 Investment policy

The investment policy should cover the following at a minimum:

- objectives of the credit union's investment activities;
- organisational arrangements setting out the roles and responsibilities of officers involved in the credit union's investments;
- the investment authorisation limits of those involved in investing, including the investment committee;
- the strategy to manage investments to ensure that those investments do not (taking account of the nature, scale, complexity and risk profile of the credit union) involve undue risk to members' savings. This should cover the following at a minimum:
 - the knowledge and expertise required to manage the credit union's investments;
 - the credit union's risk tolerance;
 - the characteristics of the investments the credit union may make including quality, counterparty and maturity;
 - how the credit union will manage market risk including specifically listing institutions, issuers and counterparties that may be used, or criteria for their selection, and limits on the amounts that may be invested with each;
- the process for assessing the potential impact on the credit union, including the impact on the liquidity and financial position of the credit union before making an investment;
- how potential conflicts in relation to investments will be managed in line with the policy on conflicts of interest as required under section 55(1)(o)(xvi) of the 1997 Act;
- procedures for monitoring the value and investment returns of investments;
- the accounting treatment adopted for the valuation of investments and income recognition;
- the approach to the distribution of income;
- the process for confirming compliance with the investment policy;
- how the credit union will handle an investment that, after purchase, falls outside the investment policy or a legal or regulatory requirement or guidance;
- the designating of depositories for the funds of the credit union and signatories to cheques, drafts or similar documents drawn on the credit union as required under section 55(1)(o)(vi) of the 1997 Act;

- reporting arrangements, including the frequency, form and content of reporting to the board of directors; and
- the process for the approval, review and update of the investment policy by the board of directors.

The written strategy required under Regulation 32 Investment Practices – Concentration Risk may be documented separately or may be contained in the investment policy.

Credit unions should ensure that any significant deviations from the investment policy, the reasons for these deviations and proposed action to address the deviations are communicated to the board of directors in accordance with the reporting arrangements set out in the investment policy.

3.2 Accounting for Investments

Guidance in relation to accounting for investments is provided in sections 3.3, 3.4 and 3.5 of the Chapter on “Accounts and Audit”.

3.3 Assessing Investments

In ensuring that any investments they make do not involve undue risk to members’ savings, credit unions should ensure that detailed analysis and careful consideration is undertaken before making an investment. Investments should be in line with the investment policy and risk appetite of the credit union and the rationale for investment decisions should be documented. Credit unions need to understand and consider the risks of the investments they make and hold.

Due Diligence on Counterparties (General)

Where a credit union is considering an investment it should undertake appropriate due diligence on the counterparty to ensure:

- the investment would comply with the investment regulations set out in Part 5 of the Regulations;
- clarity on the identity of the counterparty; and
- understanding of the risk profile of the counterparty so that this aligns to the investment policy and risk appetite of the credit union.

Due Diligence (investments in accounts in credit institutions and bank bonds)

Regulations 25(1)(c) and 25(1)(d) of the Regulations prescribe accounts in credit institutions and bank bonds as classes of investment in which a credit union may invest. Credit unions should undertake appropriate due diligence to determine whether the credit institution in which they are considering investing is listed in the European Banking

Authority's Credit Institutions Register (the EBA's Register) - in the context of ensuring that the credit institution is authorised as same pursuant to Directive 2013/36/EU (and therefore within the definition of "credit institution" for the purpose of the Regulations).

For the purpose of Regulation 25(1)(c) of the Regulations - investments in accounts in credit institutions - either "CRD Credit Institution" or "EEA Branch" is the relevant entity type on the EBA's Register. For the purpose of Regulation 25(1)(d) of the Regulations - investments in bank bonds - "CRD Credit Institution" is the relevant entity type on the EBA's Register.

The list published in the EBA's Register is set up solely on the basis of information provided to the European Banking Authority by national competent authorities of EEA Member States, as foreseen in the European Banking Authority Decision establishing the Credit Institutions Register (EBA BoS 2013 432). Accordingly, where a credit institution is not listed in the EBA's Register, the credit union may also consider checking whether the credit institution is listed in the relevant national supervisory authority's register of authorised credit institutions as the national registers may include more details and / or be more up-to-date at a point in time. Information on the EBA's Register and national registers of authorised credit institutions is available on the European Banking Authority's website.

Capital Protection

In relation to capital protection, when considering making an investment, credit unions should ensure that they understand the level of capital protection provided by the investment and that all potential risks to the repayment of capital are taken into account, including circumstances where repayment of capital may be dependent on events in institutions other than the issuing counterparty.

The definition of a bank bond set out in the Regulations refers to senior bonds traded on a regulated market where the capital amount invested is guaranteed by the issuer. Therefore credit unions can only invest in investment products structured as bank bonds where the capital amount invested is guaranteed by the issuer.⁵

Investment Advisors

Where credit unions are dealing with an investment adviser, they need to ensure that the adviser has adequately explained why an investment is suitable for the credit union and that they understand the risk. Credit unions need to understand the risks of the investments they undertake - they cannot outsource that judgement to an external party such as an investment adviser. Credit unions are expected to have their own sound investment criteria and investment decision processes in place.

The Market in Financial Instruments Directive II (MiFID II) is effective since 3 January 2018. Enhancements introduced from MiFID I are aimed at strengthening investor protection and improving the functioning of financial markets by making them more efficient, resilient and transparent. Changes include enhancements to conflicts of interest provisions that an investor has when engaging with clients and the banning of commission for the provision of independent advice and portfolio management services. MiFID II imposes certain obligations on investment firms and credit institutions when providing investment services to their clients, including credit unions. MiFID II categorises the clients of investment firms and credit institutions into two categories, Retail Clients and Professional Clients. While credit unions are automatically categorised as Professional Clients under MiFID II, they may opt to be treated as Retail Clients. Credit unions should give careful consideration to whether they should opt to be treated as Retail Clients for MiFID II purposes, taking account of all of the implications of their chosen categorisation, including the higher duty of care owed to Retail Clients.
